Prologue

A ginger she-cat sat ontop of highrock, her green orbs gleaming in the moonlight. "Wildstar" A familiar voice broke into her thoughts, and she turned her head to meet, honey-brown eyes.
"Pigeonfeather" she greeted, as she turned around, fully. "Are you thinking about him?" Pigeonfeather questioned.

"I am deeply troubled, by his final words, before he fled" Wildstar admitted. Pigeonfeather nodded in understanding. "What do you think he meant? Only medicine cats get prophecies, not regular warriors" Pigeonfeather asked curiously. "I do not know" Wildstar sighed. "But I do know, that power went to his head".

Pigeonfeather nodded thoughtfully. "Do you think, he'll be back?" Pigeonfeather asked. "He will be back, for his son" Wildstar confirmed. "Then we should-" Pigeonfeather began but was cut of by a flick of Wildstar's tail. "We should train his kit to be loyal" Wildstar finished his sentence.

Pigeonfeather nodded in understanding. "Then who will-" Pigeonfeather was cut of again. "Cloudfoot will mentor him" Wildstar mewed firmly. "Wise choice, Cloudfoot is loyal" Pigeonfeather nods approvingly.

Wildstar nods. "And do you think, he meant what he said?"

Pigeonfeather mewed softly. "It doesn't matter what I think, Pigeonfeather" Wildstar mewed. Pigeonfeather nods, as Wildstar looked up towards Starclan. "A Storm will rage through the forest" Wildstar murmured.

Chapter 1

"Lionpaw, get up!" A familiar voice whispered, as a soft paw prodded his side. "Huh?" Lionpaw muttered groggily. "We will be late for training!" The voice warned. Lionpaw's exhaustion faded quickly and was replaced by eagerness.

He got to his paws and nodded his thanks to his best friend Coalpaw. "Thanks Coalpaw" Lionpaw muttered gratefully. Coalpaw chuckled and nodded. "No problem" Coalpaw nodded. Lionpaw shook off the moss that clung to his golden pelt, and exited the apprentice den.

He blinked harshly, his eyes adjusting to the sunlight. "Move traitor" a familiar voice hissed, and Lionpaw felt another pelt push him out of the apprentices den. "Morning, Honeypaw" Lionpaw rolled his eyes. Honeypaw glared at him. "Your worse than a kittypet" she hissed scornfully, and turned on her heal to leave.

Lionpaw watched her retreating figure and turned to Coalpaw. "What's with her?" He muttered. Coalpaw shrugged. Lionpaw sighed, and began to walk towards the fresh-kill pile. He chose a sparrow and settled down to eat it.

"Hello young ones" a familiar voice chuckled. "Cloudfoot" Lionpaw nodded, as he looked up at his mentor. "Are you ready for training?" Cloudfoot asked. Lionpaw nodded. "Come" Cloudfoot ordered with a flick of his tail. Lionpaw got to his paws and said goodbye to Coalpaw. He then, eagerly followed his mentor.

"Come along, Lionpaw" Cloudfoot ordered, as they traveled out of camp. "What are we doing today?" Lionpaw mewed eagerly. Cloudfoot chuckled. "I'm going to show you the territory today" Cloudfoot explained. Lionpaw nodded, a little disappointed. He was hoping to get right into battle training. Cloudfoot seemed to notice Lionpaw's disappointment.

"Battle training is tomorrow, Lionpaw" Cloudfoot promised. Lionpaw looked up at his mentor. "Really?" Lionpaw asked hopefully. Cloudfoot nodded. Lionpaw's eyes filled with joy but he said nothing. They walked along, until the came to the river.

Lionpaw looked curiously into the river. "What can you smell?" Cloudfoot asked. Lionpaw looked up, and opened his mouth, letting the air hit his scent glands. He sniffed the air, the smell of Fish and salt tickled his nose. "We are on the border between Fireclan and Iceclan" Lionpaw reported. "Very good" Cloudfoot purred.

(Timeskip)

Lionpaw and Cloudfoot walked around the terrtitory until they came to Four-Stones. "This is where the gatherings take place, Lionpaw" Cloudfoot explained. "What can you smell?" Cloudfoot whispered. Lionpaw opened his mouth and sniffed. A familiar yet, terrifying scent filled his nostrils. Lionpaw started coughing. Cloudfoot tenses, making Lionpaw realise, that whatever that stench was, wasn't good.

"We're heading back to camp Lionpaw, and whatever you do don't stop, until we get home" Cloudfoot commanded. "But-" Lionpaw began but was cut off. "Do as I say, Lionpaw" Cloudfoot growled. Lionpaw was taken aback, but didn't question his mentor. He got to his paws and began walking back to camp.

Halfway home, Lionpaw realized the stench seemed to be following them. Cloudfoot's pace quickened, and Lionpaw has to jog to keep up with the deputy. "What's going on, Cloudfoot?" Lionpaw asked, worriedly. Cloudfoot didn't answer.

Chapter 3

"Wildstar, We have news!" Cloudfoot yowled, causing some cats in the crowd to murmur. Wildstar hopped up onto highrock. "Silence" she hissed. The camp fell silent. "What is it Cloudfoot?" Wildstar asked.

"He's back!" Cloudfoot yowled. The camp exploded in furious hisses and yowls. "Silence" Wildstar yowled, once more. "Now, Cloudfoot, What happened?" Wildstar asked. "I was showing Lionpaw, Four-stones, when we both got a terrible stench. It was him,Wildstar." Cloudfoot expalined.

"Who?" Lionpaw finally spoke up. The elders stared at Lionpaw. "He is back for Lionpaw" Iceheart hissed furiously. Lionpaw flinched at her tone. Mutters of agreement broke out. "Who?" Lionpaw asked yet again, but it fell on deaf ears, as gossip broke out over Fireclan.

"WHO?" Lionpaw yowled, causing the clan to fall silent for the third time that morning. Cloudfoot opened his mouth to answer only to be cut off by Morningsun's yowl. "My son is not ready to know about-" Morningsun was cut of by Wildstar. "Morningsun, enough! He is ready" Wildstar snapped.

"Who?" Lionpaw Asked again. "Lionpaw, have you ever wondered who your father was?" Cloudfoot asked. Lionpaw pondered for a moment before nodding his head. Morningsun was about to interject when Robinflight came to her side and shook her head, resulting in Morningsun shutting her mouth. "Your father was a powerful warrior, by the name of Sunstorm. He was one of Fireclan's bravest warriors" Wildstar explained

Lionpaw's eyes shone with excitement. "But" Wildstar began "that power went to his head. He began thinking that HE should be leader". Lionpaw's excitement fell. "Then what happened?" Lionpaw asked, a little disappointed in his father. "One night, he attempted to destroy, Wildstar" Cloudfoot explained causing Lionpaw to Gasp.

"But Cloudfoot caught him just in time!" Wildstar continued where Cloudfoot stopped. Cloudfoot chuckled sheepishly in response. "Sunstorm was banished from Fireclan, but he promised to come back for you, because he believed Fireclan was weak" Wildstar expalined. "But Fireclan isn't weak!" Lionpaw protested, causing Cloudfoot to chuckle.

"But now he is back" his mother cried "We have to protect Lionpaw!". Lionpaw's stomach dropped. "I don't wanna be protected!" Lionpaw blurted out. It was Wildstar's turn to chuckle. "Don't worry, Lionpaw, you won't" Cloudfoot announced "because I'm gonna teach you how to protect yourself!"

Chapter 4

"Lionpaw, Honeypaw, Greywhisker. Hunting patrol now!" Cloudfoot ordered. Lionpaw nodded to Coalpaw and waited by the gorse tunnel for the rest of the patrol. Honeypaw sat down beside him. "Humph Traitor" She growled. Lionpaw rolled his eyes. "Just because my father was a traitor doesn't mean I am" Lionpaw growled, as he turned away from her.

Honeypaw was just about to say something when Cloudfoot and Greywhisker came by. "Ready to go?" Greywhisker asked. Lionpaw nodded in reply, getting to his paws. "Let's get going" Cloudfoot mewed, as he began to walk towards the gorse tunnel.

They walked through Fireclan territory until Cloudfoot stopped and turned towards them. "Lionpaw, I need you to hunt by Four-Stones" Cloudfoot ordered. Lionpaw nodded eagerly. "Honeypaw, hunt by the river" Cloudfoot ordered. Honeypaw nodded. "Go" Greywhisker said, resulting in the apprentices running off in different directions.

Lionpaw wondered why Cloudfoot sent him so far away from camp. He didn't question it. He soon came to fourstones and began his hunt. He caught a couple mice before a horrible stench filled his scent glands. Deciding it was time to leave, he grabbed his prey and attempted to leave. Only, to be stopped by fierce brown eyes.

Lionpaw back away, as the rogue came closer. "W-what are you doing on Fireclan territory!?" Lionpaw tried to sound fierce but found himself stuttering. No answer. "I said, what are you doing on Fireclan territory" Lionpaw growled, gaining confidence.

Lionpaw unsheathed his claws, preparing for an attack. "I won't ask you again! What are you doing on Fireclan territory" Lionpaw insisted. The rogues claws unsheathed. Lionpaw's green orbs narrowed, into furious slits. He prepared himself to pounce, only to realise there was more than one rogue. Lionpaw's pelt bristled.

How was he supposed to fight four fully grown warriors? He didn't have any time to ponder as a she-cat pinned him to the ground. Lionpaw hissed in pain as the she-cat dug her claws into his shoulders. Acting on instinct, he kicked her away, and she hit highrock.

The next warrior pounced, but Lionpaw was quicker, he slashed his claws against the rogues nose. The rogue fell back and hit his head against the floor. The last two rogues attacked together. Lionpaw prepared himself for pain, but it never came. He opens his eyes to see Honeypaw standing over the rogues unconcious bodies.

"Traitor!" She hissed at Lionpaw. Lionpaw shook his head furiously. "N-no, I didnt..." Lionpaw was cut off as Honeypaw hissed. "Wait till Cloudfoot finds out" Honeypaw growled. Lionpaw didn't reply as the she-cat from before loomed over Honeypaw. "Honeypaw look out!" Lionpaw hissed, as the she-cat sank her teeth in honeypaw's shoulder.

Honeypaw cried out in pain. "Honeypaw!" Lionpaw mewed horrified. Lionpaw glared at the rogue. Unsheathing, his claws he pounced on the she-cat. The she-cat attempted to shake him off but Lionpaw continued to hiss and scratch the she-cat. Honeypaw was only recovering from the bite, and watched as Lionpaw fended off the she-cat.

The she-cat fell to the ground unconcious. Lionpaw yowled victoriously, only to find himself surrounded by three more rogues. They glared hatefully at him. Lionpaw hissed and prepared himself to pounce, when an unfamiliar voice screeched. "Sunclan retreat!"

Instantly, the rogues began to back away, leaving the unconcious she-cat with the apprentices. Lionpaw walked over to Honeypaw. "Are you okay?" He asked. Honeypaw was silent. "Honeypaw?" He asked. "DONT think we're friends just because I saved you" Honeypaw snapped scornfully. "And she's back" Lionpaw rolled his eyes.

Lionpaw walked over to the rogue and began to drag her by the scruff. "What are you doing?" Honeypaw snapped impatiently. "She needs help" Lionpaw grunted, as he dragged her unconcious body. "She attacked you!" Honeypaw snapped. "Yes, and now I am getting her to a medcat" Lionpaw growled sarcastically. "Now help me move her!" Lionpaw ordered.

Honeypaw looked like she was about to open her mouth again, but decided against it. "Tch" she growled, as she helped Lionpaw carry the unconcious body of a rogue.

Chapter 5

"What is this?!" Cloudfoot demanded, as Lionpaw and Honeypaw dragged the she-cats unconcious body along the forest floor. "She attacked us!" Honeypaw expalained. "Than why is she unconcious?" Greywhisker asked. "I knocked her out" Lionpaw admitted sheepishly. "You?" Greywhisker's eyes were furious slits now. "Yes him" Honeypaw came to his defence.

Lionpaw stared at her in shock. "I-I mean.." Honeypaw trailed off awkwardly. "Thanks, Honeypaw" Lionpaw muttered. "Don't think we are friends" she hissed. "All right that's enough" Cloudfoot ordered. Lionpaw looked back up at his mentor. "We will bring her back to camp, and treat her wounds, after that, she is gone" Cloudfoot growled.

"Help a ROGUE? Are you insane Cloudfoot?" Greywhisker hissed. "She wasn't a rogue" Lionpaw muttered. "What do you mean?" Cloudfoot demanded. "She was from Sunclan" Honeypaw muttered. "Sunclan? What's that?" Cloudfoot asked. "Remember that stench that belonged to my father?" Lionpaw asked. Cloudfoot nodded. "Well that's Sunclan" Lionpaw confirmed.

"How do you know?" Greywhisker gasped. "We were attacked by them" Lionpaw mewed firmly. "Their leader told them to retreat"

Honeypaw recalled. "Yeah, and they left her there" Lionpaw nodded in agreement. Cloudfoot and Greywhisker looked at eachother. "We must tell Wildstar!" Cloudfoot decided. Greywhisker nodded in agreement.

"Take her and let's go" Cloudfoot ordered. Greywhisker heaved the she-cat onto his back, and walked along with Cloudfoot. Lionpaw followed his mentor quietly. However, he noticed Honeypaw staring at him as they walked home.

Chapter 6

"What is this?" Wildstar demanded, when she saw the unconcious rogue. "Wildstar! We have got news!" Greywhisker yowls, causing curious cats to surround them. Lionpaw rolled his eyes. Greywhisker always loved being the centre of attention. Wildstar gave Greywhisker a curious look. "Well then?" She demanded.

"Lionpaw, tell her what happened!" Cloudfoot mewed encouragingly. Lionpaw nodded shyly. "I was hunting by four-Stones, when i was Attacked by rogues" Lionpaw began, causing gasps of horror to echo through Fireclan. "My precious Lionpaw! Attacked by rogues?" Morningsun began to panic. "Shh, it's okay Morningsun. Lionpaw is fine, see?" Firepelt mewed softly.

"The what happened?" Coalpaw asked, his eyes filled with curiosity and excitement. "They surrounded me.." Lionpaw admitted. Morningsun shrieked. "But then Honeypaw came and helped me fight off, Sunclan" Lionpaw assured his mother. "Sunclan?" Wildstar asked. "Honeypaw helped you?!" Coalpaw cried. Honeypaw shifted uncomfortably. "He is not my friend!" Honeypaw's voice wavered.

"Lionpaw, What is Sunclan?" Wildstar demanded. Lionpaw shrugged. "What did they smell like?" Bluefeather asked. "They smelled like my father" Lionpaw confirmed. "Your father?!"

Morningsun shrieked. "Hush, Morningsun!" Tigerblaze growled. Morningsun began to internally scream. Lionpaw could tell by her eyes.

"Lionpaw, is she a Sunclan warrior?" Wildstar mewed sternly. Lionpaw hesitated before nodding. "She was left behind when their leader told them to retreat" Lionpaw muttered. "Leader?!" Wildstar mewed, horrified. "Did you get a good look at him?" Cloudfoot asked. "No, did you Honeypaw?" Lionpaw turned to his fellow apprentice. "No, he was covered by shadows" Honeypaw muttered uncomfortably. Obviously she did NOT like siding with Lionpaw.

"What does this mean for Fireclan?" Bramblepaw gulped. Lionpaw shrugged. "This means nothing that we can't solve" Wildstar finally spoke up. "Pigeonfeather take that she-cat to your den and treat her wounds" Wildstar ordered. Pigeonfeather nodded, took the she-cat by the scruff, and dragged her to his den.

"Cloudfoot double the patrols" Wildstar commanded. Cloudfoot nodded. "And Lionpaw" Wildstar muttered. Lionpaw looked at his leader hopefully. "Be careful" Wildstar mewed. Lionpaw nodded. "Dismissed" Wildstar commanded. Immediately, Fireclan cats began to go their separate ways. Tigerblaze and Bluefeather went into the Warriors den, Cloudfoot was talking with Wildstar and Robinflight was comforting a hysterical Morningsun.

Honeypaw began to slink away, she gave Lionpaw one last awkward glance before padding into the apprentices den, after Bramblepaw and Ravenpaw. "Lionpaw!" A hyper voice called. Lionpaw turned his attention to his best friend. "You really fought off rogues?" Coalpaw yowled excitedly. Lionpaw nodded awkwardly.

"That is awesome!" Coalpaw laughed, as He and Lionpaw made their ways towards the apprentices den. "T-thanks, I guess" Lionpaw stammered, as he entered the apprentices den. "You know, if you keep being this awesome, maybe Wildstar will make you a warrior early" Coalpaw joked.

Lionpaw chuckled at his friends logic. Suddenly, Lionpaw's pelt prickled, an uneasy felling washing over him. He turned to see Bramblepaw, Ravenpaw and Honeypaw staring at him. They looked away when Lionpaw's gaze met with theirs. Ravenpaw whispered something to Honeypaw, causing Honeypaw to flick her ear. "Shut up" Honeypaw yowled.

"Hey Lionpaw, you paying attention?" Coalpaw demanded. Lionpaw turned his gaze to Coalpaw and nodded. "Just tired is all, I had a big day today" Lionpaw admitted, which wasn't really a lie. "I bet. You fought off rogues today! You should get some rest" Coalpaw suggested. Lionpaw nodded, as he curled himself up into his bed. "Night Coalpaw" Lionpaw muttered, as the other apprentice began to lie down aswell. "Night Lionpaw" Coalpaw yawned. Lionpaw sighed, as he let sleep consume him.

Chapter 7

Lionpaw's ears flicked, as yowls of anger echoed through the camp. Slowly, Lionpaw's green eyes opened. Groggily, Lionpaw got to his Paws and shook the moss off his pelt. Hisses of anger and rage, reminded him why he got up. Quickly, he exited the apprentice's den, and pushed his way through the crowd of Warriors. His green eyes widened at what he saw.

The rogue was awake and she was fighting Cloudfoot. "Get away from me!" She hissed, as she swiped at Cloudfoot. "Now now, we are not trying to hurt you!" Cloudfoot tried to reassure, however, it fell to deaf ears, as the she-cat continued to hiss at him. Deciding to to something before the she-cat got hurt, Lionpaw stepped out of the crowd.

The furious she-cat turned to him. Her eyes became furious slits. "You!" She hissed at Lionpaw. Lionpaw unsheathed his claws, ready for an attack. "Yeah, Me!" He snapped back, trying to sound brave. The she-cat began to chuckle darkly. "Feisty, aren't you" She spoke, slyly. Lionpaw desperatley wanted to swipe Some sense into her, but held himself back.

The she-cat sat down, and began to wash her paws. Lionpaw couldn't believe it. Just moments ago, the she-cat was hissing furiously at him, now she was sitting there washing her paws! The nerve of some-cats. He decided to take his chances and sat down beside the strange she-cat. "What is your name?" He asked, trying to start a conversation. "Splash" was her simple reply.

"And yours?" She questioned. "My name is Lionpaw" Lionpaw answered awkwardly. "Who sent you?" Cloudfoot asked, deciding that the she-cat was calm enough now. Splash's eyes narrowed. "And why would that concern you?" She spat. Lionpaw could see Cloudfoot's eyes narrowed. "Because, you were on Fireclan territory! Because you attacked a Fireclan apprentice! Because you attacked MY apprentice" Cloudfoot snapped.

Splash seemed taken aback for a moment, before she scoffed. "Who sent you?!" Cloudfoot growled, his claws unsheathing. "Cloudfoot, That is quite enough!" Wildstar growled. Cloudfoot grumbled before sheathing his claws and sitting down. Wildstar turned back to Splash. "Now, we won't ask again. Who sent you?" Wildstar asked camly. Splash shook her head.

"Need, I remind you, that your surround by Fireclan cats, and they could kill you, if you don't give us the information we need" Wildstar growled, but Lionpaw knew she was bluffing. However, Splash thought Wildstar was being serious. "My leader, Sunstar" Splash muttered fearfully. "Sunstar!" Morningsun shrieked. Splash glared at Morningsun. "Yes!" She hissed at Morningsun. Lionpaw tensed, ready to defend his mother, but the look on Morningsun's face told him to stay quiet.

"Are you from a clan?" Was Wildstar's next question. Splash nodded. "What clan?" Wildstar asked. "Sunclan" was Splash's answer. Yowls of anger and protest echoed through Fireclan. "Hush" Wildstar growled. The clan fell silent. "Why did your leader send you?" Wildstar Asked, turning back to Splash. Splash hesistated. "To look for his son" Splash answered steadily. Morningsun shrieked.

"Tell Sunstar, that Fireclan will never give up his son" Wildstar said calmly. Splash's eyes widened. "Please, If I don't bring back his son, He'll Kill me!" Splash yowled.

Chapter 8

"She can't stay here! She is a Sunclan warrior" Tigerblaze yowled, clearly outraged. Hisses of agreement rose. "You would really send me back to my death?" Splash growled, venom dripping from her tone. "Yes" Greywhisker snarled,coming closer to her. Splash began to back away, but found herself caught in a corner. Greywhisker, Firepelt, Robinflight and Tigerblaze were right ontop of her now, snarling.

"Fireclan! Stop this at once!" Wildstar growled. The Warriors gave their leader a confused glance. "But she attacked Lionpaw" Greywhisker protested. "Yes, and it seems Lionpaw has forgiven her" Wildstar mewed, her tail flicking angrily. "But she..." Firepelt began but was cut off. "She is welcome to stay if she likes" Wildstar growled.

"For now, she will be treated like a prisoner, until she proves her loyalty" Wildstar yowled. "Thank you, Wildstar" Splash dipped her head gratefully. Yowls of outrage still continued to sound. "Wildstar, you have doomed Fireclan" Greywhisker yowled. Wildstar's gaze flickered to Graywhisker. "If you don't like it, you can always leave" Wildstar mewed nonchantly.

Greywhisker sat back down, grumbling. "Fireclan, this conversation is over. Dismissed" Wildstar mewed, with a flick of her tail. Fireclan cats began to depart. Some walking towards the fresh-kill pile, others going back to their den. Coalpaw raced towards Lionpaw. "I can't believe Wildstar is letting this happen" Coalpaw growled, his claws sheathing and unsheathing.

"There are somethings, in this life that we can't control" mewed a familiar voice. Lionpaw looked up, at the she-cat in question, Splash. Coalpaw snorted, before turning back to Lionpaw. "Meet me in the apprentices den, after your done with that" Coalpaw muttered, as he walked away. Lionpaw only watched as his friend disappeared into the apprentices den.

He turned his attention back to Splash. "I'm guessing nobody, likes me very much" She sighs. "They will get used to you" Lionpaw assured her. "I hope" Splash muttered. "Splash, come with me. Wildstar wants to speak with you" Cloudfoot growled. Splash nodded, and followed Cloudfoot towards Wildstar's den. Lionpaw sighed, as he got to his paws. "Better go find Coalpaw" He muttered to himself, as he went along to find his friend.

Chapter 9

Lionpaw sat outside the apprentices den, watching his clan-mates talk and interact. It had been two moons since Splash joined Fireclan. Over that time, nothing new really happened. He watched as Splash and Cloudfoot talked by the Fresh-kill pile. They both had gotten close over the past two moons.

"Lionpaw!" Coalpaw chirped, breaking Lionpaw from his thoughts. "Yeah?" Lionpaw asked, turning to his best friend. "Guess what! Guess what!" Coalpaw yowled excitedly, hopping circles around Lionpaw. " You found a nice two-leg to take care of you?" Lionpaw teased. Coalpaw stared at Lionpaw with a bland expression. "No" Coalpaw snapped.

"Then what?" Lionpaw asled curiously. "You and me are going to the gathering!" Coalpaw was bursting with pride. "Great Starclan! Why didn't you tell me!?" Lionpaw yelled excitedly, getting to his paws. "Because you were too busy going on about two-legs, Mousebrain" Coalpaw chirped, as he batted Lionpaw on the ear.

Lionpaw purred. "Come on Lionclaw, let's fight!" Coalpaw growled playfully. "Lionclaw?" Lionpaw echoed curiously . "Yeah, I think that's what your warrior name will be" Coalpaw admitted sheepishly. "Well then Coalfur, prepare to get beaten" Lionpaw growled, as he got ready to pounce. "Bring it on" Coalpaw challenged.

Lionpaw pounced onto Coalpaw, pretending to claw at him. "Stand down Earthclan Warrior" Lionpaw growled. "Never!" Coalpaw yowled, as he batted Lionpaw lightly in the face. Lionpaw staggered back, pretending that he just relieved a might blow to the face. He shook it off, and glared at Coalpaw. "Give up Coalfur!" Lionpaw growled. "As if I would do that, Lionclaw" Coalpaw snapped back.

Lionpaw pounced onto Coalpaw, but Coalpaw was ready. He flipped Lionpaw onto his back and pinned him. Lionpaw retaliated by flipping Coalpaw on his back. Soon, the apprentices were rolling around in the grass, growling and snarling.

"What are you two doing?" Ravenpaw snapped. Lionpaw looked up to see Bramblepaw, Ravenpaw and Honeypaw staring down at them. Lionpaw caught Honeypaw's gaze, but she looked away. " Having fun!" Coalpaw growled , tugging on Lionpaw's ear.

Ravenpaw rolled her eyes, and began to walk away. "Come on guys, leave the kits to it" Ravenpaw ordered. Bramblepaw began to follow Ravenpaw but Honeypaw stood in front of Coalpaw and Lionpaw."C-can I play?" Honeypaw asked shyly.

Chapter 10

"W-what?!" Coalpaw yowled, slightly sickened by the thought of playing with Honeypaw. Lionpaw looked at his paws. Why would she wanna play with him and Coalpaw? "J-just so you know, I'm not you friend! I'm just bored" Honeypaw muttered. Coalpaw rolled his eyes, and looked at Lionpaw. "Tell her she can't play!" Coalpaw growled.

"Okay, you can play, Honeypaw" Lionpaw decided. Coalpaw looked utterly horrified. "Lionpaw, She can't play!" Coalpaw growled. Honeypaw glared at Coalpaw. "And why can't I play?" Honeypaw growled. "Because you hate Lionpaw!" Coalpaw snapped. Honeypaw was taken aback. She glanced back at Lionpaw, before turning back to Coalpaw. "Fine!" She scoffed, before bounding back to Ravenpaw and Bramblepaw.

"That wasn't very nice" Lionpaw snapped. "Are you really defending that bully!?" Coalpaw growled. "She's our Clanmate" Lionpaw argued. "But she doesn't like us!" Coalpaw defended, unsheathing his claws. "So what?! It still wasn't right to dismiss her like that!" Lionpaw sprung to his paws. "She dismisses us, all The time!" Coalpaw yowled. "Two wrongs don't make a right!" Lionpaw snapped.

"So what?!" Coalpaw snarled. "Your supposed to be the bigger cat, and let her play!" Lionpaw snarled. "Well she never let us play with her!" Coalpaw growled. Lionpaw rolled his eyes, before turning his back to Coalpaw. "Don't bother sitting with me at the gathering!" Coalpaw growled. Lionpaw froze, his green eyes turning wide before turning into a hardening angry glare. He turned back to Coalpaw. "Wasn't planning on it!" He snapped at Coalpaw, before turning to pad away. "And where are you going?" Coalpaw growled.

"To apologize to Honeypaw!" Lionpaw called over his shoulder. Little did he know that Honeypaw had watched the whole thing, and she immediately regretted what she had done.

Chapter 11

"All cats going to the gathering, go wait by the gorse tunnel now" Wildstar called. With that, a group of cats huddled by the gorse tunnel. Lionpaw sat by himself, waiting for Wildstar's signal. He looked around the group of cats. Tigerblaze, Robinflight, Cloudfoot and Squirrelfang were going, and so was Iceheart, a clan elder.

A flash of grey snapped him out of his thoughts. Coalpaw . The grey tom gave Lionpaw a regretful look before padding up to Tigerblaze. Lionpaw sighed, feeling regretful himself. Maybe Coalpaw was right. Honeypaw hated him. "Have fun at the gathering" a familiar voice mumbled awkwardy. Lionpaw's gaze snapped up to meet Honeypaw's. "Uhh yeah.. thanks" Lionpaw mumbled, as he shifted awkwardy.

"Lets go!" Wildstar called, as the group began to follow her. Lionpaw gave Honeypaw one last glance before catching up to the group. "Lionpaw? Why aren't you with Coalpaw?" Iceheart asked. Lionpaw shrugged. Iceheart must have known he didn't want to talk about it because she changed the subject. "So tonight you will meet the other Clans, are you nervous?"Iceheart asked. "Yes, very nervous" Lionpaw muttered.

"Do not worry, young one" Iceheart reassured him. Lionpaw nodded. "Hey,Iceheart? Did you know my father?" Lionpaw blurted out the question that had been on his mind for days. Iceheart froze for a moment, before nodding. "Your father was a great tom, he was brave. However, he claimed he got a dream from Starclan, and believed he was as legendary as Firestar" Iceheart muttered. "Firestar?" Lionpaw echoed.

"Firestar was the first leader of Fireclan" Iceheart explained. Lionpaw gave her a confused glance. "Have you not heard the story of Firestar?" Lionpaw shook his head. "Come by the elders den tomorrow. I shall tell you the story" Iceheart sighed. Lionpaw nodded excitedly.

"Fireclan, wait for my signal" Wildstar called. Lionpaw watched his leader, waiting for the signal. At the base of the hill were Four, large grey Rocks. It was known as Four-Stones. The rocks stood in the centre of the clearing, where the leaders would sit.

"Iceclan and Earthclan are already here" Iceheart muttered. Lionpaw looked closely. He could see two cats sitting ontop of the rocks, looking down at the other cats. "The light brown tom is Owlstar, leader of Iceclan and the darker brown tom is Alderstar leader of Earthclan" Iceheart muttered. Lionpaw nodded. "Whose the leader of Cloudclan?" Lionpaw asked. "Sagestar" Iceheart answered simply.

"Fireclan, lets go" Wildstar called. With that, Fireclan made their way down the hill and into the gathering.

Chapter 12

Lionpaw sat at the edge of the gathering. Iceheart had gone off to meet the other elders, while Coalpaw wasn't even talking to him. He sat alone, waiting for the gathering to begin. He looked up at the leaders. Wildstar, Owlstar and Alderstar were talking quietly with eachother. However, Cloudclan were not here yet.

"H-hello" A quiet, unfamiliar voice stammered. Lionpaw's head snapped up and met green eyes. "Hey" He murmured, at what he thought was an Iceclan apprentice. "I'm Leafpaw and you are?" the she-cat asked, a little more confindent. "Lionpaw" he muttered. "That's a cool name! Are you from Fireclan?" she chirped.

"Yeah, and are you from Iceclan?" Lionpaw asked. Leafpaw nodded. "Why are you on your own?" Leafpaw asked, unaware of how awkward that question was. "I got into a fight with my friend " Lionpaw answered truthfully. There was no point in lying about it. "Oh, what happened?" Leafpaw asked. Lionpaw shook his head, signalling he didn't want to talk about it.

A loud yowl caused, the whole area to sink into silence. The two apprentices looked up to highrock, where Wildstar was patiently waiting. "Fireclan, shall go first" Owlstar's voice echoed through the clearing. "Thank you, Owlstar" Wildstar nodded, as she turned her attention back to the cats below.

"Fireclan is doing fine" Wildstar began. "We thank Starclan for the new addition in Fireclan, Sharpkit, born to Cinderfoot" She mewed. Lionpaw wondered why Wildstar hadn't warned the other clans about Sunclan. He was snapped out of his thoughts, as Wildstar continued her speech. "Leaf-bare is coming, and our warriors are working hard to collect enough prey to see us through" Wildstar finished.

"Thank you, Wildstar" Owlstar coughed as he took her place at the front. Owlstar began his speech, it was similar to Wildstar's, as were the other leaders. When the leaders had finished talking, Wildstar hopped down from four stones, and went towards Cloudfoot. Lionpaw turned to Leafpaw, who was still looking up at Four-Stones.

"The leaders are so cool!" Leafpaw chirped, her eyes shining brightly, in adoration. Lionpaw nodded in agreement. "Lionpaw, time to go" A familiar voice called. Lionpaw's gaze wondered over to his mentor, who was patiently waiting for him. "Bye" Leafpaw whispered. "Bye" Lionpaw whispered back, as he turned and raced to his mentor.

Lionpaw's green eyes fluttered open. He blinked a couple times, his eyes adjusting to the light. It was the morning after the gathering, and Lionpaw barely got any sleep. Despite not being able to hang out with Coalpaw, he really enjoyed the gathering.

Then something dawned on him. Iceheart had promised to tell him about Firestar. Excitedly, he jumped to his paws, and shook the moss off his pelt. He looked around the apprentices den. Ravenpaw and Bramblepaw were still sleeping, meaning Coalpaw and Honeypaw were already up.

Sighing, he padded out of the apprentices den. He looked around, hoping to find Coalpaw. He really wanted to apologise. He spotted him by the fresh-kill pile. Lionpaw began to bound towards him, but stopped. What if Coalpaw was still mad at him? What if Coalpaw never wanted to be his friend again?

"Lionpaw?" A Familiar voice called. Lionpaw looked up to the owner of the voice. Honeypaw. "Hi" He muttered. Honeypaw looked uncomfortable. "Where are you going today?" She asked awkwardly, as she looked at her paws. "Uhh..well, I was going to go to visit Iceheart. She wanted to tell me about Firestar" Lionpaw muttered.

"That's cool. Can I come?" Honeypaw asked. Lionpaw nodded, and turned towards the elders den. "Iceheart?" He called. "Yes, Lionpaw. Come in" Iceheart replied. Lionpaw and Honeypaw walked inside and found Iceheart curled up in her moss bed. Lionpaw looked over at a dark figure in the corner, snoring softly. Nightstep.

"I assume your both here to Learn about Firestar" Iceheart muttered.

"Very well, Make yourself comfortable" she ordered. Honeypaw gave Lionpaw and awkward glance before sitting down. Lionpaw sat down also, curling his tail around his paws as he did so. "Firestar was the first leader of Fireclan" Iceheart began.

"She was a brave leader. Always calm and knew what to do." Iceheart murmured. "Just like Wildstar" Honeypaw blurted out causing Iceheart to laugh. "Yes Honeypaw, Just like Wildstar" Iceheart chuckled. "How did she become leader?" Lionpaw asked, curiously.

"There was a time, where cats never got along, Lionpaw. They would cheat and steal, and lie to get what they wanted. Then one day, four siblings passed through the forest. Fire, Earth, Ice and Cloud were their names. They were appalled at the forest cats, who constantly battled one another for food, instead of sharing." Iceheart explained.

"That's awful" Honeypaw muttered. Lionpaw nodded in agreement. "Yes it was" Nightstep mewed from his moss bed, his gaze fixed intently on the apprentices. "Anyway, One night, Cats with stars in their pelts visited the four siblings. They promised that if the Siblings could change the forest cats way then the siblings would be granted Nine Lives" Iceheart mewed.

"Then what happened?" Honeypaw asked excitedly. " The siblings agreed, and so for moons they tried to persuade the cats of the forest. Then One day, the cats began to listen to them. They realized that the siblings were right. But they could not agree who should be leader of the forest. It was Firestar who suggested that there should be four groups" Nightstep explained. "And that's what happened, Fire, Ice, Cloud and Earth became Firestar, Icestar, Cloudstar and Earthstar. And the four groups became known as Fireclan, Iceclan, Cloudclan and Earthclan" Iceheart finished.

"Why did the forest cats begin to listen to the four leaders?" Lionpaw asked. "Yeah, Why?" Honeypaw muttered. "Well, four brave cats stood up and defended the leaders. Their names were Blazeclaw, Darkfeather, Featherstep and Grayfur. They became the first deputies of all four clans" Nightstep explained. "Wow!" Lionpaw muttered. "Wow indeed" Iceheart purred.

Lionpaw opened his mouth to speak but was interrupted when a familiar voice called for him. "Lionpaw, Honeypaw, Time for training" Cloudfoot yowled. Lionpaw looked back towards the elders and nodded. "Thank you for telling us about the four leaders. I will be back later" He muttered and turned to leave. "Your very welcome Lionpaw and Honeypaw" Iceheart called.

"Stay low, Steady your breathing, Lionpaw" Cloudfoot whispered. Lionpaw nodded, and took a deep breath. "Now Pounce!" Cloudfoot ordered. Lionpaw launched towards the squirrel, his claws unsheathed. Once he caught the squirrel, he sunk his teeth into the back of it's neck. The squirrel fell limp and Lionpaw proudly walked back to his mentor.

"Very good, Lionpaw" Cloudfoot purred. Lionpaw's eyes shone with excitement. "Your hunting skills are definitely improving. Your fast which gives you an advantage against prey" Cloudfoot muttered. Lionpaw puffed out his chest proudly. "Thank you, Cloudfoot" Lionpaw purred.

"Now, try catching something else, without my help this time" Cloudfoot ordered. Lionpaw nodded, and bounded farther into the forest. He opened his mouth and took a deep breath. The familiar scent of the forest filled his nose. Suddenly, he caught scent of a mouse just a few Rabbit-hops away.

Instinctively, Lionpaw crouched low and unsheathed his claws. He watched carefully. The mouse didn't seem to realize he was here. He crawled closer. When he was only a few tail-lengths away, Lionpaw pounced, and sunk his teeth deep into the mouse' neck. Once the mouse went limp, Lionpaw padded back to Cloudfoot.

"Very good" Cloudfoot praised. Lionpaw puffed out his chest. "Now try-" Cloudfoot was cut off when a loud yowl came from the bushes. Honeypaw stepped out of the bushes, tears streaming down her face. "Honeypaw, whats wrong?" Cloudfoot asked, worriedly. "S-snowtuft. Snowtuft is dead!" She sniffled. "Oh Starclan, No!"

Lionpaw muttered.

Lionpaw never knew Snowtuft. Of Course, he had seen her around camp, patrols and gatherings. But, he never physically talked to her. Snowtuft was Honeypaw's Mentor, that's all he knew. He wasn't Surprised that Honeypaw was upset.

Lionpaw watched, as they dragged Snowtuft's body into the centre of Fireclan camp. Her white fur was matted with blood, and her eyes staring up at Starclan. "Snowtuft was a great warrior, kind and caring. She will be remembered for many, many moons" Wildstar mewed softly, her eyes glazing with sadness.

"Sunclan have taken this too far" Tigerblaze yowled from the other side of the corwd. Mutters of agreement broke out. "Cloudfoot and I, will decide what to do about Sunclan in a moment. But first, Honeypaw will need a new mentor" Wildstar sighed. The clan fell silent, waiting for Wildstar's decision. After a moment, Wildstar finally spoke out. "Bluefeather, Step forward" Wildstar called.

The blue-gray she-cat stepped out of the and sat directly in front of Wildstar. "You are a loyal warrior, Bluefeather and Fireclan is lucky to have you. I ask you to mentor Honeypaw for the remainder of her apprenticeship" Wildstar decided. Bluefeather nodded and turned towards Honeypaw. Hesitantly, Honeypaw shuffled forward, and touched noses with her new mentor.

Nobody cheered. The clan was still silent, looking up at Wildstar for guidance. "For now, I will sit with Snowtuft's body. Cloudfoot, I want you at my den in the morning" Wildstar sighed. Cloudfoot nodded. "Clan dismissed" Wildstar ordered with a flick of her tail, and hopped down from highrock. The leader glanced in Lionpaw's direction before sitting down beside the fallen warrior.

Lionpaw observed the cats that stayed with Wildstar. Only the Cats closest to Snowtuft would sit through the night. Lionpaw got to his paws and turned towards the apprentices den. 'Sunclan will pay' Lionpaw thought to himself as he settled into his moss bed and fell asleep.

Chapter 16

Lionpaw looked around camp from the entrance of the apprentices den. It had been three days since Snowtuft's death, and Cloudfoot still hasn't taken him out on a training session. He knew that Cloudfoot was just upset that his sister had died, but life goes on.

Sighing, he got to his paws and went to look for his mentor. Cloudfoot was sitting next to Splash, looking quite depressed. His usual mischevious Blue eyes were now dull and lifeless, as if it was Cloudfoot who had died and not Snowtuft. Lionpaw sighed sadly. Cloudfoot was in no shape to train him today.

Disappointed, Lionpaw turned back to the apprentices den. "Hey Lionpaw" A familiar voice called. Lionpaw looked over his shoulder, his green gaze meeting Honeypaw's. "Yeah?" He muttered. "Whats wrong? You look.....defeated..." Honeypaw's head tipped to the side.

After three days, Honeypaw had accepted Snowtuft was dead and actually moved on. Why couldn't Cloudfoot? Lionpaw knew he was being rude, but he just couldn't help it. "Cloudfoot wont take me out training. He is still getting over Snowtuft" Lionpaw retorted. He didn't mean to sound rude, but he knew he did.

Honeypaw looked taken aback for a moment before nodding. "I could ask Bluefeather if you could come training with us?" Honeypaw suggested. Lionpaw's green eyes lit up. "R-really? That would be amazing" Lionpaw chirped. "Wait here" Honeypaw muttered, as she turned around and padded off to find Bluefeather.

Lionpaw sighed happily. Maybe he was finally gonna get some training done. But his excitement suddenly faded when he saw Coalpaw sitting by the fresh-kill pile, completely alone. Lionpaw felt a pang of guilt and sadness wash over him. He had to apologise to Coalpaw and soon.

@BrightfrostintheDark made the new cover. (I think that her user)

Chapter 17

(A/n : This is gonna be a long chapter, but has some really important stuff in it. So just read it.)

Lionpaw sighed, as he entered the Appretices den. He had just been training with Bluefeather and Honeypaw and he was exhausted. He flopped onto his moss bed, and was just about to fall asleep when yowls of sadness snapped him out of dreamland.

Grumbling, Lionpaw padded out of the apprentices den to see what the problem was. A crowd of cats had gathered around something. Lionpaw pushed his way through the crowd until he could see what was going on. He froze, he couldn't believe it. The body of a cat lay on the cold forest floor. The body of Morningsun.

Lionpaw leapt out of the crowd and towards his mother's body. "M-mom?" Lionpaw trembled, hoping she would reply. No answer. Lionpaw shook his mother, trying to wake her. Lionpaw didn't want to believe it. "Come on, get up! This isn't funny!" Lionpaw cried, tugging on his mother's ear. No reponse. Lionpaw tugged harder on her ear.

The clan was silently, as Lionpaw desperately tried to wake his mother. "She's dead, Lionpaw" Cloudfoot said softly. "LIAR" Lionpaw shouted, his claws unsheathing. "Lionpaw..." Honeypaw said softly. "NO" Lionpaw snarled, as he snuggled himself closer to the body of his mother.

Lionpaw laid his head against his mother's chest, like he did when he was a kit. Silence. No beating heart, no breathing. Morningsun was dead. Tears streamed down Lionpaw's face. It felt as if his heart had been torn out of his chest. "Pigeonfeather! You have to help her" Lionpaw sobbed, snuggling closer into Morningsun.

"I tried Lionpaw. I really did" Pigeonfeather said sadly. "Try again!" Lionpaw begged. He couldn't believe this was happening. "Its too late.." Pigeonfeather muttered. Lionpaw sobbed into his mother's chest. The clan was silent. The only noises were Lionpaw's sobs of regret.

"W-what happened to her?" Lionpaw cried. "She was attacked by Sunclan warriors. I'm so sorry Lionpaw, I couldn't protect her" Tigerblaze sighed. Lionpaw shook with anger. "Apologising wont bring her back!" Lionpaw growled, angry tears streaming down his face.

Tigerblaze was silent. Lionpaw turned back to his mother's body. He settled down beside it, and began to clean her wounds. He was dizzy with sorrow and anger. "Lionpaw.." Honeypaw muttered, as she sat beside him. Lionpaw said nothing. He was broken.

Cloudfoot sat on his other side. "She was a loyal warrior and a great mother" Cloudfoot whispered, attempting to comfort Lionpaw. It wasn't helping. Another figure, sat beside Lionpaw. Coalpaw. "Lionpaw, I'm really sorry" Coalpaw muttered, brushing his pelt with Lionpaw's.

Lionpaw said nothing, just stared into his mother's lifeless eyes. He missed her already. He missed her voice, her laugh, her overprotectiveness. He wanted her to come back. But she couldn't. She was gone and he was just going to have to accept that.

Wildstar hopped up onto Highrock. "Warriors Of Fireclan, Sunclan has declared war on us. They have killed two of our warriors, and we will not stand for this! The gathering is tomorrow night, and I plan to tell the other clans about Sunclan. Hopefully, they will be able to aid us in Sunclan's defeat" Wildstar announced.

Yowls of agreement broke out. "Furthermore, to protect the rest of the clan, I will only take two warriors, and apprentices with me tomorrow night" Wildstar announced. The clan fell silent, awaiting Wildstar's decision."Squirrelfang, Cloudfoot, Lionpaw and Honeypaw will attend the gathering with me" Wildstar announced.

Lionpaw sat silently, by the gorse tunnel. It had only been a day since Morningsun's death, and his head was still spinning. The elders had taken her body away this morning and Lionpaw could only watch sadly, as they dragged his mother to her final resting place.

"Lionpaw, are you ready for the gathering?" Honeypaw asked, as she sat beside him. Lionpaw only nodded, still looking at the ground. "Lionpaw, please talk to us. If you don't talk about it, your emotions will bottle up until you explode" Coalpaw muttered. Lionpaw shook his head.

There was nothing to talk about. Morningsun was dead, and he couldn't do anything about it. Coalpaw gave Honeypaw a worried glance. "Lionpaw please talk to us" Honeypaw begged. "Hush, Honeypaw. Lionpaw will talk about it, when he is ready" Wildstar commanded.

Wildstar gave Lionpaw a sorrowful look before turning towards the clan. "Cloudfoot, Squirrelfang, we are leaving" Wildstar ordered. Coalpaw sighed, and glanced at Lionpaw. "Tell me about the gathering when you get back?" He asked. Lionpaw nodded.

"Lets go" Wildstar commanded. With that, the five cats walked through the gorse tunnel and into the forest.

(Timeskip)

Lionpaw looked down at the clearing, where the gathering is usually held. Cloudclan and Iceclan were already there. He wondered if Leafpaw was here. He really enjoyed her company. "Lionpaw come on, we are going down there" Honeypaw whispered. Lionpaw said nothing and nodded.

They walked down into the centre. Wildstar hopped up onto highrock, and began to talk with Sagestar and Owlstar. Most likely talking about Sunclan. "Lionpaw" A familiar voice chirped. He turned towards the source of the voice and saw Leafpaw bounding towards him.

Lionpaw dipped his head but said nothing. He was afraid that if he spoke, he'd cry. "Whose this, Lionpaw?" Honeypaw growled. "I'm Leafpaw!" Leafpaw chirped. "I'm Honeypaw" Honeypaw growled. Lionpaw continued to say nothing, and Leafpaw seemed to notice.

"Whats wrong Lionpaw?" Leafpaw asked. Lionpaw's breath hitched, and he felt as if he might burst into tears. "Don't you know its rude to ask questions?" Honeypaw snapped, causing Leafpaw to flinch.

A victorious yowl, caused the gathering to fall into silence. Everybody looked up towards to the leaders but even they were confused. A Cat stepped out of the bushes, followed by other unfamiliar warriors. But the stench was unmistakable. Sunclan came to the gathering.

Lionpaw watched silently, as Sunclan made its way to the front of the gathering. Yowls of pure hated rose, as Sunstar leapt onto Highrock. "Good Evening" The malevolent tom chuckled. "Sunstorm?" Sagestar asked uncertainly. "Sunstar" The golden tom corrected.

"Sunstar, where is Earthclan?!" Wildstar demanded. "I'm afraid Earthclan wont be able to make it to the gathering" Sunstar frowned. "And Whynot?" Owlstar demanded, his claws unsheathing. "Well, as of now Earthclan are halfway up a tree by now. Chased them out this morning" Sunstar sighed carelessly, as he examined his claws.

"What do you want?!" Cloudfoot yowled from the crowd. "What do I want?" Sunstar laughed maniacally. "You all know what I want" The tom growled hatefully. Lionpaw could feel both Leafpaw and Honeypaw move closer to him. "I want my son" Sunstar declared. The forest fell silent, and Lionpaw's breath hitched.

"Where is he Wildstar? I know he is here!" Sunstar demanded. "How would you know?" Owlstar stood tall. "A little friend from Fireclan, told me" Sunstar smirked. "A traitor?!" Squirrelfang shrieked. Sunstar burst into laughter again before turning to Wildstar. "Now where Is he?"

Wildstar hesitated for a few moments before finally making a mental decision. "Lionpaw, Step forward" Wildstar ordered. Lionpaw got to his paws. "Lionpaw, what are you doing?" Honeypaw whispered. "Wildstar needs me" Lionpaw whispered for the first time all night. Honeypaw's eyes filled with worry before nodding.

"Lionpaw?" Wildstar demanded. Lionpaw took a deep breath before making his way up towards highrock. Cats made a small path for him, allowing him to pass. He had never been this close to the leaders before. Nervously, Lionpaw sat down infront of the leaders, gulping.

Wildstar stared at Lionpaw for a moment. "Say Hello to your father, Lionpaw" Wildstar muttered. Lionpaw looked up at the golden tom, who was obviously staring back. "Hello Lionpaw" Sunstar chuckled victoriously. Lionpaw gulped, as he stared into the menacing eyes of his father.

"Well?" Sunstar asked staring into Lionpaw's eyes. Lionpaw gave him a questioning look before realising what he meant. "Hello Sunstar" Lionpaw muttered bitterly. Sunstar frowned. "I'd prefer if you'd call me Father from now on" Sunstar ordered.

"From now on?" Lionpaw echoed. Sunstar burst into laughter again. "Yes, as of now you are the heir of Sunclan" Sunstar chuckled darkly. "Heir to Sunclan? You must be mad if you think I'm leaving Fireclan!" Lionstar blurted out. Sunstar's eyes narrowed.

"What was that?" Sunstar growled. "You heard me! I'm not leaving Fireclan!" Lionpaw countered. "You have no choice" Sunstar insisted. "I always have a choice" Lionpaw retorted. Anger surged through Sunstar's eyes, and Lionpaw knew he had taken it too far.

"You will do as I say" Sunstar ordered. "You are not my leader" Lionpaw spat, jumping to his paws. "I am your father! I am in Sunclan, and you will follow me!" Sunstar ranted. "Morningsun was my mother, and I choose to follow her" Lionpaw shot back. He had no Idea where this bravery was coming from.

Sunstar hopped down from highrock, and stood right in front of his son. "You are my son" Sunstar protested. Lionpaw was caught off guard. He wasn't expecting Sunstar to hop down from highrock. "No, I am an apprentice of Fireclan" Lionpaw muttered steadily.

Sunstar's aura darkened, and the golden tom unsheathed his claws. "Say that again and i'll--" Sunstar began but was cut off. "I said I am an apprentice of Fireclan" Lionpaw shouted. "Fool!" Sunstar yowled, as he swung his massive paw at Lionpaw. Lionpaw landed with a thud. "Lionpaw!" He heard someone cry from the crowd.

Its took Lionpaw a few seconds to realize that Honeypaw was by his side. "Lionpaw, come on say something" Honeypaw begged. "That hurt" Lionpaw muttered sheepishly. Honeypaw sighed in relief before glaring at Sunstar. Lionpaw shakily got to his paws and stared at his father, who was glaring back.

Chapter 21

After Sunclan had left the gathering, Cloudclan, Iceclan and Fireclan had stayed behind to talk things out. Lionpaw stayed quiet as the meeting went on. "Hey Lionpaw. You okay?" Cloudfoot asked, as he turned to his apprentice. Lionpaw looked at the wound that ran from his shoulder to his chest. That was going to leave a scar.

"I think so..." Lionpaw muttered, as he gave the wound another swift lick. It stung. "You were very brave, Lionpaw" Honeypaw muttered. "Agreed, while most would have submitted to Sunstar, you stood strong" a familiar voice broke in. Wildstar.

Lionpaw looked up at his leader then back to his paws. "He killed Morningsun" Lionpaw muttered bitterly. "Not quite" Wildstar admitted. Lionpaw's head snapped up towards his leader. "What do you mean?!" Lionpaw whisper-shouted.

"From what Sunstar was bragging about earlier, it seems we have a spy in Fireclan" Cloudfoot muttered sadly. "You don't think it was Splash, do you?" Honeypaw growled, getting to her paws. "I'm not sure yet" Wildstar admitted. "Tigerblaze and Greywhisker were on patrol with her that morning" Squirrelfang recalled.

"I will have to question them, when we get back to camp" Wildstar muttered. "What if Sunstar was lying?" Lionpaw asked. "We could always ask Splash, Maybe she knows" Cloudfoot suggested. "I will ask her" Lionpaw offered. Widstar nodded. "Good idea, Lionpaw, she trusts you the most" Cloudfoot agreed reluctantly.

Lionpaw smiled knowingly. Despite what Cloudfoot says, everybody knew that he had a strong affection for Splash. "Then its agreed"

Wildstar nodded. "Come along then, we'd better begin our investigation" Cloudfoot chuckled. With that, the five cats began their journey back to camp.

Chapter 22

When they arrived back at camp, the first thing he did was look for Splash. He spotted her by the fresh-kill pile, and excitement immediately washed over him. He was just about to sprint over to her when a familiar voice called his name. Coalpaw.

"Hey, how did the gathering go? Dear Starclan, Where did you get that Scar?" Coalpaw yowled. "Hush" Lionpaw hissed, as Pigeonfeather glanced their way. Coalpaw immediately hushed, but gave Lionpaw a questioning look.

"What happened at the gathering?" Coalpaw whispered. "I will tell you later, for now I need to talk to Splash, you can come if you want" Lionpaw offered. Coalpaw nodded, and followed Lionpaw over to Splash. "Splash, can I ask you some questions?" Lionpaw asked.

"Go ahead, Lionpaw" Splash nodded. "Tonight at the gathering, Sunstar said that there was a traitor in Fireclan, telling him everything. Is it you?" Lionpaw questioned. Both Coalpaw and Splash stared at him, and Lionpaw could feel his fur getting hot.

"No! It was not me, Lionpaw, you have to believe me!" Splash begged. "I do believe you. But we need to find out who is gossiping about Fireclan to Sunstar" Lionpaw sighed. Splash was silent for a moment. "If I tell you and he finds out he will kill me" Splash sighed. "He?" Coalpaw echoed.

"Splash, you need to tell us! If you don't than Sunstar will eventually find out, how to destroy Fireclan" Lionpaw growled. Splash was silent again before she began to speak.

"He was one of Sunstar's best friends back when he was a warrior of Fireclan" Splash sighed. "But who is it?" Lionpaw urged. Splash looked into Lionpaw's eyes. Lionpaw could see she was hesitating. "Greywhisker. Greywhisker has betrayed Fireclan" Splash murmured.

Chapter 23

"Greywhisker?!" Lionpaw echoed. Splash nodded. "Didn't you recognise his fur in Snowtuft and Morningsun's claws??" Splash asked. Lionpaw thought back to the moment, when he had seen his mother's body sprawled out on the camp ground. He did in fact recall seeing small clumps of grey fur between his Morningsun's claws.

"Hold on, If Greywhisker killed Morningsun, How come Tigerblaze didn't report it to Wildstar?" Coalpaw wondered. "Probably because he didn't see it" Splash muttered. "What do you mean?" Lionpaw demanded.

"I spoke to Tigerblaze, a little while after Morningsun's burial. He admitted that a bunch of Sunclan warriors pounced on him all at once" Splash admitted. "That makes sense" Coalpaw nodded thoughtfully. "Yeah, but wouldn't Morningsun have recognised Greywhisker and yelled out?" Lionpaw mumbled. "I reckon she wouldn't of had time to" Splash sighed.

"But If Greywhisker killed Morningsun, doesn't that mean he killed Snowtuft?" Coalpaw muttered. "Now that you metioned it, Greywhisker wasn't in camp on both occasions!" Lionpaw recalled. "Makes sense, if you think about it. Greywhisker must have been with Sunstar plotting out the murders.." Splash trailed off.

"But why Greywhisker? What does he have against Fireclan?" Lionpaw mumbled, frustrated. "Simple, really" Splash muttered. "Huh?" Coalpaw muttered, in a confused manner. "Greywhisker isn't originally from Fireclan, He once joined Sunclan, along with Sunstar, but Sunstar sent him back as a spy" Splash muttered.

It had been a couple of days since, Splash had admitted to Greywhisker's Betrayal, but Lionpaw had to be sure, before jumping to conclusions. Greywhisker had been disappearing from camp recently, but Lionpaw was never sure where the tom was going.

Tonight however, Lionpaw would find out for sure. If Greywhisker was in fact Sunstar's lackey, then he needed to be exiled from Fireclan, and fast. Night crept in fast, and most cats were sleeping, but Lionpaw was wide awake, talking with Coalpaw. Coalpaw was in on the plan too.

A sudden rustling caused both apprentices to jump. Coalpaw began to freak out. "Shh" Lionpaw ordered. Coalpaw nodded, and placed his paws over his muzzle. Lionpaw peeked out of the apprentices den and watched silently as a familiar figure slipped into the shadows. Greywhisker.

Lionpaw flicked his tail, signalling Coalpaw to follow. Coalpaw nodded, and got to his paws. Lionpaw waited a few more seconds before springing out of the Apprentices den, Coalpaw trailing behind.

(Time skip)

Greywhisker had now passed onto Earthclan's old territory. As of now, Sunclan held power in this part of the forest. Lionpaw began to worry that Greywhisker would enter Earthclan's camp. His worry faded, when Greywhisker stopped, in the centre of Earthclan's territory.

The two apprentices slipped into a bush and waited for something, anything to happen. A few minutes passed before a familiar stench made its way into the area. Lionpaw forced himself not to gag, instead he focused on Greywhisker's stoic expression.

This tom was betraying his clan, yet he felt no remorse? Lionpaw was disgusted. Sunstar made his way into the clearing, and nodded to Greywhisker. "Were you followed?" Sunstar whispered. Greywhisker shook his head. Sunstar nodded, and sat down, his tail curling around his paws.

"Well, what is it?" Sunstar snapped. "Fireclan has lowered its guard. Its safe to attack now" Greywhisker smirked. Lionpaw trembled with anger. He had to force himself not to pounce onto Greywhisker and sink his claws into him.

"Excellent, I will rally my troops and we will march to Fireclan territory within the next few minutes" Sunstar chuckled darkly. "We have to warn Fireclan!" Coalpaw mouthed to Lionpaw. Lionpaw nodded in agreement. Both apprentices got to their paws, being careful not to rustle the bush.

Lionpaw didn't even look back. "Go" He whispered to Coalpaw. With that, both apprentices quietly stalked out of the bushes and dashed back to the safety of Fireclan territory.

"Wildstar" Lionpaw yowled, causing the whole clan to wake up. They were not happy. "Lionpaw! Why so early!?" One cat complained. "Whats so important!?" another one snapped. Wildstar said nothing, as she waited for Lionpaw to continue.

"Sunclan are coming!" Lionpaw spluttered. "Theres going to be a battle!" Coalpaw yowled. Wildstar's eyes widened. "Cloudfoot prepare the warriors! Pigeonfeather lead the elders, queens and kits to safety! Bluefeather and Tigerblaze ready the apprentices!" Wildstar ordered. The four cats nodded, and went to complete their duties.

Lionpaw watched as Pigeonfeather, Iceheart, Nightstep, Cinderfoot and Sharpkit raced to the gorse tunnel. Lionpaw met Sharpkit's worried gaze and smiled reassuringly. The young she-kit smiled back before racing after her mother.

"Lionpaw, come over here and get ready for battle!" Tigerblaze ordered. Lionpaw raced over to his friends, and nodded to them. "Apprentices, Sunclan are on their way to camp. Your skills will be tested now! This is your assessment and your aim is to protect your clan!" Tigerblaze yowled.

Lionpaw glanced at his fellow apprentices. Ravenpaw was shaking badly, and Coalpaw was trying to comfort her. Bramblepaw was trying to keep cool, but Lionpaw could see he was terrified. "L-lionpaw" Honeypaw stuttered. Lionpaw turned to Honeypaw and nodded.

"Whats wrong, Honeypaw?" Lionpaw asked. "I-I'm scared!"

Honeypaw whispered. Lionpaw pressed his pelt against Honeypaw's. "Don't worry! We fought Sunclan warrior's before, and we lived. This wont be any different" Lionpaw chuckled calmly. However, deep down he was just as scared.

A victorious Yowl ran throughout the clan, as a familiar stench filled Lionpaw's nose. Lionpaw looked down at Honeypaw and chuckled dryly. "Good luck, Honeypaw" Lionpaw smiled shakily, as he got into his battle stance.

"G-good luck, Lionpaw" Honeypaw trembled. Lionpaw gave her one last reassuring glance before turning towards to the Gorse tunnel, where a very familiar tom stepped into the light, Sunstar!

Chapter 26

Sunstar frowned, as he stalked into Fireclan camp. "Its seems you have been expecting us, Wildstar" Sunstar snarls. "We were warned about your scandalous plot and decided to fight Sun with Fire" Cloudfoot growled.

Sunstar's frown deepened. "This doesn't have to happen, Wildstar! Just give me my son and i'll leave" Sunstar called. Wildstar shook her head. "Lionpaw does not want to leave, so he doesn't have to! However, I cannot say the same for Greywhisker!" Wildstar snapped.

Sunstar's eyes narrowed, as he unsheathed his claws. "You have forced my paw, Wildstar! Sunclan attack!" Sunstar yowled. "Fireclan Attack!" Wildstar called. With that, hundreds of warriors sprung into action. Yowls of anger and rage filled the ususally quiet forest.

Lionpaw snarled as he pounced onto a Sunclan warrior and bit into the tom's shoulder. The tom let out a yelp of pain before falling unconscious. Lionpaw leapt off the unconscious rogue and raced towards Coalpaw, who was pinned underneath, a thin she-cat.

Lionpaw bowled into her, giving Coalpaw a chance to get to his paws. Coalpaw snarled, and pounced onto the she-cat, scraping his claws along the she-cats back. The she-cat yowled with rage. Lionpaw looked around the camp for any other cats in need.

He spotted Honeypaw in the corner of camp, who was protecting an injured Splash. Lionpaw leapt through the crowd and towards his friend. He leapt in front of his friend just as a huge white tom, went to swipe at Honeypaw. Lionpaw yowled in pain, as he crashed into another rogue.

Lionpaw shakily got to his paws, and bowled into the tom. "Leave My clan alone!" Lionpaw yowled, as he slashed the tom across his face. The tom hissed with rage, and retaliated by pinning Lionpaw to the floor. Lionpaw's eyes went wide, as the tom's unsheathed claws came closer to his throat.

Lionpaw closed his eyes, preparing for his end. But it never came, Lionpaw opened one eye, and found Coalpaw staring back. "You saved me?" Lionpaw muttered. "You owe me one" Coalpaw smirked before springing back into battle mode.

Lionpaw looked around the camp, for his father and found the tom smirking victoriously. Lionpaw came a little closer to find the body of Wildstar underneath the Golden tom's paws.

Chapter 27

"Wildstar!" Lionpaw yowled sadly. Sunstar turned towards his son and smirked darkly. "Lionpaw, you have come to see the fall of Fireclan, I see!" Sunstar smiled slyly. Lionpaw unsheathed his claws, and pounced at his father.

"Murderer!" Lionpaw yowled, as he bowled his father over. Sunstar yowled in shock. Lionpaw began to swipe and scrape at his father. Hot tears began to fall down his face. Sunstar chuckled darkly as he threw Lionpaw off of his battered body.

"Your no match for me! I am a warrior while you are a mere apprentice!" Sunstar cackled. Lionpaw growled and pounced back onto his father. Sunstar was ready and simply dodged his son's attack. "You maybe a warrior, but Starclan does not walk beside you!" Lionpaw yowled, as he swiped and his father's back legs.

Sunstar hissed, and grabbed Lionpaw by his scruff. Lionpaw kicked and spat, but Sunstar would not let go. Sunstar began to violently shake Lionpaw, like a dog with a toy. Lionpaw yowled, and blindly scratched out, making contact with one of Sunstar's eyes.

Sunstar yowled in shock, as he collapsed onto the ground. Sunstar shakily got to his paws and glared at his son. "Fool, I am more experienced as a warrior, you really think you can beat me!" Sunstar yowled. "No but I sure can!" A familiar voice growled.

Lionpaw stared in shock, at his once dead leader, rose to her paws. "N-no, you cant be alive, I-I killed you! You were on your last life!" Sunstar yowled disbelievingly. "I lied" Wildstar said simply before pouncing onto Sunstar.

Lionpaw watched as Sunstar kicked, and spat helplessly, as Wildstar bit deep into his shoulder. Wildstar seemed furious. "Many of my warriors have fallen to your wrath! Pinefoot didn't deserve to die!" Wildstar yowled. "Pinefoot was weak" Sunstar coughed weakly.

Wildstar bit deeper into Sunstar's shoulder, causing the tom to yowl in pain. Wildstar's claws made their way closer to Sunstar's throat. Lionpaw's eyes widened. She was going to kill him! Instantly, Lionpaw sprung into action and bowled his leader off of his father.

"Lionpaw! What are you doing??" Wildstar hissed, her eyes filled with grief and fury. "A true Fireclan warrior never kills unless its for defense!" Lionpaw shot back. Wildstar's eyes widened in realisation. "Your right, Lionpaw. I'm sorry I don't know what came over me" Wildstar mewed calmly.

"Whoever this Pinefoot is, wouldn't want you to kill in his name!" Lionpaw muttered. Wildstar's eyes softened and nodded. "Your dead right, Lionpaw" Wildstar sighed as she got to her paws. "Fools! Sunclan attack!" Sunstar coughed.

Wildstar glared at the remaining Sunclan warriors. "If any of you want your leader back, you have to swear to leave!" Wildstar commanded. Murmurs broke out between the Sunclan warriors. "And not just Fireclan, you have to leave the forest!" Cloudfoot added.

Sunclan fell quiet. "Very well, Cloudffot if you please" Wildstar commanded. Cloudfoot drew nearer to Sunstar's battered body. "Wait! We swear, we will leave!" Greywhisker called out from somewhere in the crowd.

"How can we trust you!?" Wildstar's eyes narrowed. "You can send any amount of warriors with us, we swear we will leave, just don't hurt him!" Skull promised. Wildstar was silent for a moment and nodded. "Take him and go!" She spat.

Chapter 29

Lionpaw watched as the last Sunclan warriors stalked out of camp, and the elders, queens and Pigeonfeather returned. He looked around camp to find many cats tending to their own wounds. In the corner of his eye, he watched as Cloudfoot and Splash nuzzled eachother.

Lionpaw smiled. Those two really did belong together. "Lionpaw!" Two familiar voice chirped, and Lionpaw turned to see his best friends, Honeypaw and Coalpaw race up to him. "We did it, Lionpaw! We defeated Sunclan!" Honeypaw chirped.

Lionpaw chuckled and nodded. "Yeah! I cant believe its all over! We can get back to our apprenticeship" Lionpaw agreed. "Not quite!" Wildstar interjected, as the three apprentices turned to her. " I have discussed it with your mentors and they all agree, its time for a very special ceremony!" Wildstar mewed proudly."Y-you mean?" Lionpaw tremebled excitedly, as he heart thumped a thousand beats per second.

Wildstar smiled and hopped up onto Highrock. "I, Wildstar, leader of Fireclan, call upon my warrior ancestors to look down on these apprentices. They have trained hard to understand the ways of your noble code, and I commend them to you as warriors in their turn" Wildstar yowled, as many cats looked up at her excitedly.

"Lionpaw, Coalpaw, Honeypaw, do you promise to uphold the warrior code and to protect and defend your Clan, even at the cost of your life?" Wildstar asked. "We do!" The three yelled instantaneously.

"Then from this moment on, Coalpaw, you shall be known as Coalheart! Starclan honours you for your skills and welcomes you as a full member of Fireclan!" Wildstar mewed. Wildstar hopped down from highrock, and placed her head ontop of Coalheart's. Coalheart licked Wildstar's shoulder, and backed away.

"From this moment on, Honeypaw, you shall be known as Honeyblaze! Starclan honours you for your smarts and welcomes you as a full member of Fireclan!" Wildstar yowled. Like before, Wildstar placed her head ontop of Honeyblaze's. Honeyblaze swiftly licked her leaders shoulder and backed away.

Wildstar turned to Lionpaw. Lionpaw smiled excitedly, and glanced over at Cloudfoot, who was watching proudly from the crowd.

"And Lionpaw, from this moment on you shall be known as Lionstorm! Starclan honours you for your Courage and Welcomes you as a full member of Fireclan. Wildstar placed her head ontop of Lionstorm's and he swiftly licked her shoulder.

"Lionstorm! Coalheart! Honeyblaze!" The clan cheered. "Tonight you shall hold a vigil, to honour Starclan" Wildstar yowled. Lionstorm nodded excitedly, and turned towards his friends. Their eyes were shining proudly, and Lionstorm couldn't be more proud himself.

Attention!

While I have your attention, I wanna address a few things!

1. The next book will be out in the next few days, Hopefully. The second books name is Warrior Cats : Friendship.

2. I am working on the special edition Cloudfoot's discovery, but I wanna finish Lionstorm's story first!

3. I do plan to do a book on the original four leaders, and how they became the first leaders of the elemental clans. So probably next year or something, maybe never idk.

4. I wanna know if you enjoyed my book, and who is your favourite character besides the main three (The main three are Lionpaw, Honeypaw and Coalpaw) So please tell me below. And I will cya later!

Fun Facts

1. Wildstar's warrior name was Wildheart.

2. The leader before Wildstar was Treestar.

3.Morningsun was always so protective of Lionpaw because he was the only kitten to survive in her litter. The other kits were Firekit and Amberkit, but they were stillborn.

4.Coalpaw and Honeypaw are older than Lionpaw. While Bramblepaw and Ravenpaw are younger. So Lionpaw is stuck in the middle.

5.Firestar, the original leader of Fireclan had a warrior name. Firestorm.

6.Coalpaw's father was a rogue by the name of Scorch. If you didn't Know, Scorch is listed in Sunclan's alleigiances.

7.Honeypaw's mother died after giving birth to Honeypaw and Robinflight.

8. Graywhisker has killed dozens of cats while, Sunstar has only ever killed one cat. This makes Graywhisker more dangerous than Sunstar.

9.Cloudfoot always wanted Morningsun to be his mate, but after Sunstar's betrayel, realised that Morningsun no longer believed in love.

10.Cloudfoot recognised Splash from the moment she was brought to fireclan. He'd used to sneak out of camp to play with her as a kitten, but after becoming a warrior had no time to play with.

11. Coalpaw has a very big secret that will be revealed in either the second or third book.

So, have any of these little facts of mine, blown your mind. Tell me which one blew your mind the most in the comments. :D
